I love gardening and as well as an allotment in the village we have a large vegetable patch in the garden. I enjoy reading and sewing as well as meeting friends for lunch. I am passionate about education and children's individual learning experiences. I have studied and worked in the field of educational and childcare for over thirty five years. My work experience has included a wide range of pre-school and school settings covering a variety of positions, giving me a great overview of all aspects of school life and pupils needs. I have also worked for the National Strategies and a Local Authority supporting families and practitioners/teachers with issues around children's development such as delayed and discorded language skills and a range of special educational needs. I am currently working for I CAN the children's communication charity as an independent trainer delivering courses to early years and primary practitioners.
